Starfish

The Beneteau Antares 620 is well known as the ideal boat for fishing and cruising. With her wide aft deck she is ideal for fishing, and offers the protection of the pilot house together with comfortable accommodation.

With her efficient Nanni engine she is cheap to run, the ample deck space accommodates fishermen with ease, and the sink and bait table enable them to handle their catch.

Now with its second owner, this Beneteau Anatares 620 is ideal for the fisherman. Plenty of room on the aft deck, trawling valve on the engine, large sink in the pilothouse for processing the catch - plenty to offer.

The engine is the impressive Nanni 5.250 TDI 85 hp, giving a reliable cruising speed of 11 knots and a maximum speed of 16 knots. The fuel tank capacity of 100 litres gives a good range, and the trawling valve means the engine will run at the steady speed if required.

The boat comes with the usual Beneteau instrumentation, mounted in the pilothouse at the helm position. The helm position provides good visibility all round. Beneath the helm seat cushion is the good sized sink, connected to a 20 litre water container. A portable cooker could be placed here if required.

The forecabin provides an ample v berth with storage around it. Beneath this is a sea toilet.

The present owner is looking to upsize to a Beneteau 710 or similar and would consider giving his boat in part exchange for a suitable boat.
